2050 Strategic National Development Plan (PEDN)

- It is the most important strategic planning instrument as it guides the sustainable and balanced development of the country in the medium and long term.
- It is a strategic bet that places people at the center, to articulate, around them, the efforts of the Peruvian Society and the State in the perspective of achieving its full development in a balanced environment.
- It is the result of the contribution of public actors at all levels, private actors, civil society and academia, with regional and local governments participating in the validation of its content.
