III VNR ROADMAP

A core component of the roadmap is the inclusive, collaborative approach to data gathering, analysis, and reporting. El Salvador aims to actively engage government institutions, civil society, the private sector, and international development partners throughout this process, fostering a multi-stakeholder dialogue that ensures broad representation and input. This inclusivity not only enhances transparency and accountability but also allows for a holistic perspective on sustainable development challenges and priorities, ensuring that diverse voices contribute to the formation of policies that impact the future.
